3rd Read

Third read- both the teacher and child read together. Now familiar and confident with the text this read should have fluency and be enjoyable to listen to. Familiarity of the story allows opportunity to read using punctuation and expression.

NOW PRESS PLAY AGAIN BUT TURN OFF THE VOLUME. READ THE STORY TO OTHER PEOPLE IN YOUR HOUSE ON YOUR OWN. LET THEM BE IMPRESSED.

The light guided them to a camp with five tents.
Men cooked fish with spicy fried rice,
and their wives and children ate slices of rabbit pie.
It was a fine sight.

"That smells nice!" said Kestrel.
"This must be the Land of Humans."

Fox was looking at a big box,
almost hidden behind a pile of pine logs.

"What's inside it, do you think?" he asked.
